

Together with members, investors, farmers and consumers, ORICoop seeks to do business differently.

With aligned intention, expansive investment and farm management, opportunities and people development – we want to see the world of organic food be prosperous, safe and world changing.

We believe that people should be able to farm organically without profit always being the single strongest driver & motivator. We also believe that people and investors, can be intrinsically involved in their investments, and to see the long term outcome of these benefits beyond the financial return.

We're committed to creating a farmer-owned, people owned, investor balanced co-operative that purchases and manages organic farms and businesses for long term real impact, capped returns, community benefit, and the land protected in perpetuity.

Importantly, as member owners, we believe we should build community for the common and collective good.
